

Graphic Designer is a person who has the ability to represent an idea or message visually.

This message or idea can be delivered as a print, broadcast advertisement or direct-mail package.

A design can include illustrations, set typefaces, colours, paper stock, or arrangement of elements on a page. Mostly in a company graphic designer works directly with the creative director, and the design will be based on the client brief analysis.